GIRL SOUGHT HERE ATTEMPTS SUICIDE

Local Police Hold Warrant for Carola Buechler, 19, Who Took Poison.

Carola Buechler, 19, wife of Frank Junck, 1214 Riverside street, Beloit, who took poison in an attempt to end her life in a Chicago hotel, Saturday, may face a charge here of violating the Wisconsin laws forbidding the use of poison.

The Janesville police department has a warrant for her arrest.

Miss Buechler, daughter of Mrs. Carl Deuchler, Marinette, took poison after registering at the Hotel Lincoln, Chicago, on Saturday night.

She is being sued for divorce by Junck, her husband, a musician in a Beloit theater, with whom she has not been for several weeks.

Her note to Joseph Carlson, Rockford, and to Mrs. Claude Bligh, Beloit, was left by Mrs. Deuchler-Junck before taking poison. She met Carlson at Rockford ten days ago and became intimate with him and her note to him told him of her love.

The note to Mrs. Bligh thanked her for her kind words.

Mr. and Mrs. Junck were married 18 months ago. Trouble arose between them over his refusal to make her beneficiary of an insurance policy.

The girl left the home and started divorce proceedings which were quashed. She did not return home, however, and Junck learned that she had taken poison.

He is alleged to have said he is through with her.

Quinnigan, an employee of the Chicago and North Western company, is named by Miss Buechler as being responsible for her condition. He denied this and said that he had met her twice, being asked both times for money.

The girl has not been heard from since Dec. 24, when she was believed to have been in Janesville.

FORMER JANSVILLE MAN MURDERED

have been backfire from one of Mr. Pickering's motor cars, and the incident was a quiet, unassuming person, according to Mr. Pickering.

Employees said the same thing.

"As far as I know," said Mr. Pickering, "the man was a quiet, unassuming person, and one of the most willing workers I ever had. If he ever had any trouble, I knew nothing about it."

The police officer who called on him said there is a cut on the back of his head and his clothes were soaked as if from lying on his back. He is supposed to have turned over in his car.

The Pickering home is in Mission Hills in Johnson county, Kansas. The police here, upon being notified, called Sheriff J. C. Sted and Gordon J. Woodard at Olathe. The Pickering place was built and laid out by A. C. Jones and stands at the northwest corner of Fifth and ninth streets and state highway.

Mr. Pickering, the present owner, is the head of a large lumber company.

Paul Finner Prints on Door.

Two bloody finger prints and the cartridge case are the only clues that the police and Johnson County authorities have unearthed. After examining letters found in Donelson's room, Mrs. Gertrude S. Porter, 2518 Roberts street, was questioned by the police.

Mrs. Porter, according to James M. Miller, city detective, said she and her daughter, Mrs. Helen Dorsey, were to have met Donelson at 8 o'clock Saturday night. The three had planned to attend a movie at the State Theater.

The women said they waited for Donelson until after 10 o'clock that night. Mrs. Porter, a widow with six children, said she knew Donelson for more than two years.

"He has taken either the children or me to a show almost every Saturday night in the last eight months," she said to have been told.

When told that Donelson had been murdered Mrs. Porter fainted, the police said.

Had Served in World War.

An examination of Donelson's effects revealed that he had served in a Wisconsin national guard regiment in the World War, and had formerly lived at Grover, Minn., where he had lived at Janesville, ships showing deposits of $1,600 in two Kansas City banks were also found.

Dr. Donelson, 318 Center street, Wisconsin, Ill., brother, was notified last night by Dr. Woodard of the death. Dr. Woodard said last night that he would hold an inquest whenever the circumstances demanded such action. He indicated that the inquest would be held at the Pickering home, if held at all.

Sheriff Sted said he would return to the Pickering home this morning to photograph the two finger prints. The body was sent to Fry Brothers' undertaking establishment at Olathe.

INTERURBAN FREIGHT RATES REDUCED

Freight rates on the Rockford and Interurban Railway from Janesville to Chicago, via the Aurora, Elgin and Chicago lines have been reduced approximately 25 percent. It was stated Tuesday by C. W. Murray, superintendent of the Janesville Division, that a subsidiary of the Rockford concern. At the same time, it was announced that Mr. Murray had been appointed division freight manager for the company.

While it has been decided to institute this service, the schedule has not been completed. As soon as this is arranged, it will be made public.

Mr. Murray will go to Chicago Tuesday night to confer on matters pertaining to the establishment of this freight service.

GREAT LAKES QUARTET TO APPEAR HERE

The Great Lakes String Quartet, exceptional chamber music organization, will appear here at the Baptist church at 8 p. m. Wednesday under the auspices of the local post of the American Legion. This orchestra has earned a splendid name for itself.

Chamber music, originally written for the few and until recent years occupying a supposedly inaccessible niche in musical appreciation, is now fast becoming one of the essential features on a program outlined by all progressive musical communities.

Newspapers have united in their praise of the Great Lakes String Quartet. They have rapidly taken their place in the musical circles of the country.

COUNTY BOARD COMMITTEES

Committee 12 composed of Frank Van Wart, C. M. Boynton and Frank Finch and committee 14 composed of W. H. Dungan, C. O. Osgood and Frank Hefner met Tuesday at the office of the county clerk to audit statements and prepare reports for the county board meeting starting January 17.

District Attorney Dunwiddie has seven cases on the municipal court schedule for this week and seven next week. The most of the cases are in the Beloit court.

25 Women Join Local Class in Auto Mechanics

With an idea of making better drivers of women, and giving them a better knowledge of the workings of the automobile, a class in auto mechanics for women under the auspices of the extension division of the University of Wisconsin will start at the vocational school Thursday afternoon.

Twenty-five women have enrolled. Women who desire to enroll in the course which will last more than 10 weeks are requested to get in touch with J. M. Dorrans, director of the school.

Prof. Benjamin Elliott of the Wisconsin university faculty, will deliver the first lecture at 8 p. m. Thursday. Each lecture will be illustrated either with slides or motion pictures, Mr. Dorrans said.

Practical as well as the academic side of the automobile mechanics will form part of the women's education which will tend toward the development of better drivers and less trips to the garage. Machines of different members of the class, will be brought in, the trouble diagnosed and the remedy administered.

A better record for persistence than ever before shown by pupils of the night school is being demonstrated this season, according to Mr. Dorrans, whose figures show there are 224 in attendance at the evening sessions twice a week. Few people have dropped out and there are several seeking the places of those who do, so the classes maintain a high average for attendance.

Five additional pupils were enrolled Monday night. Three women enrolled in sewing and two people in typing.

YOU TELL 'EM

Reporters ask a daily question of five persons. Here's what they say:

TODAY'S QUESTION: Do you think women are better auto drivers than men?

Stanley J. Fox, 225 Cherry street: "No, I don't think they are. Women are not as strong as men, and get excited too quick. But I will admit there are some good women drivers."

John Fox, White Star taxi driver: "I suppose they are if they see a thing before they hit it. I think there are a few women who are good drivers, however."

John H. Ryan, 1402 Mineral Point avenue: "I hardly think so. They don't seem as careful as a man in a car, and certainly not too nervous."

Mrs. E. M. Smith, Milwaukee: "I never ride in a machine. I'd prefer a man at the wheel."

John Ryan, 1402 Mineral Point avenue: "No, they're not. They get too frustrated and all things up completely in a big scrape. I'd prefer a man with a man at the wheel, rather than with a woman."

16 LIVE WIRE CLUBS BEGIN 1922 WORK

"God's out of doors" was the topic of discussion at the first organized meeting of the Live Wire clubs of Janesville, Monday.

SOULMANS SUE ON TOBACCO CONTRACT

Ask $30,000 from Samuel Grundy on Deal Charging Fraud.

Alleging breach of contract John and Ralph Soulman, Janesville tobacco dealers, on Tuesday started a $30,000 litigation against Samuel Grundy, also a tobacco dealer of this city. The complaint also alleged fraud in the cause of action to recover the damages sought.

The contract between the plaintiffs and the defendant, according to the information, was made in November 1920 and 500 cases of the 1919 crop were offered by Grundy to the Soulman firm at 45 cents a pound. Samples of the tobacco were presented, each sample representing the tobacco in a case.

The defendant warranted the tobacco to be sound, reads the complaint.

Later in November the plaintiff accepted the offer of Grundy, and entered into an oral agreement "relying on the defendant's warranty and representation" and selected 264 cases selected from the samples, of a gross weight of 127,525 pounds with a total value of $57,812.50.

The plaintiff paid over $10,000 on this deal. A written guarantee that the cases tobacco was sound is alleged to have been made by Grundy.

The tobacco remained in the possession of the defendant. A further payment amounting to $14,553 was made in December 1920 and later $8,000 more paid.

The balance of the money was raised in November 1921 and the plaintiffs made an examination of the tobacco. It was found that the tobacco was not as good as the defendant said to have been demanded by the defendant.

Fraud Is Alleged.

The cases tobacco was sampled under the direction of the F. C. Lindner-Hamilton company.

From such inspection and sampling the plaintiffs discovered and learned for the first time that the tobacco was not in any respect like the samples submitted by the defendant," reads the complaint.

As a matter of fact the tobacco is alleged to have been "rough, ragged, brittle and dead, unevenly sorted, poorly packed with lengths of wide variance, shorter than the samples and unsound tobacco in large quantities."

The plaintiff demand return of the amounts paid over and the total payment sought amounts to $23,857.45.

A denial of the fraud charges was made by the defendant when the complaint was served. The Soulman firm of attorneys appear for the Soulman firm.

DRUM CORPS MAY INVADE MADISON ON "JANESVILLE'S DAY"

Possibility that the American Legion drum corps may accompany the Janesville delegation to the bowling tournament at Madison was expressed by James Newkirk, director. The drum corps now has 15 members and is in need of several more members, some drummers, buglers and cornetists. Any who have played any of these instruments are urged to join.

The organization meets twice a week on Wednesday and Friday.

Thursday at the armory. Morton Miller, who has had six years of service in the army, has volunteered to help instruct.

The company will play on the streets Tuesday night from 7:30 until they march to the Legion hall to attend the weekly meeting.

WOMAN BREAKS ARM

Mrs. Catherine Kapelski, Aurora, Ill., who is visiting Mrs. Paul Gehrlke, South Main street, fell last Friday night on a slippery sidewalk and broke her left arm. She is confined to the Gehrlke home.

Asked by G. A. Comstock, supreme, of the association, to make a statement on business conditions, Mr. De Fay said:

CITY NURSE QUILTS POST, FEBRUARY 1

Mrs. Emma Harvey Resigns After Long Term of Worthy Service.

There was a host of annual and monthly reports made to the council Monday night from the various municipal departments. They were all filed and a few ordered published.

The proceedings of the council will be published this year in accordance with the new charter requirements.

The resignation of Mrs. Emma Harvey, city visiting nurse the past six years, to take effect February 1, was accepted by the council. Mrs. Maigret Kavanagh was reappointed policewoman for 30 days.

A resolution was passed for La Verne Moore, city electrician, to attend the convention of municipal electricians in Milwaukee.

On the motion of Alderman Le Roy Horn, under repairs were ordered on Pine, Walnut and Black streets, to be purchased from the Chicago and Northwestern railroad at $15 a car.

Permission for T. B. Goodall to install four gasoline and oil tanks in the gravel pit near Bluff street on the property of the C. M. and St. P. railroad was passed with the recommendations of Alderman J. J. Doherty.

The city street department will remove the interurban rails on West Bluff street—the old loop—and charge the costs against the interurban company. This was demanded by Alderman John Harlow.

Burr A. Strang was granted permission to erect a street sign at 16 Pleasant street.

A number of students attended the council meeting. They obtained an excellent lesson of how a city council functions, although there was not the usual amount of verbal fireworks.

CAR CO. PURCHASE ALLOWED

Washington—A authority was granted the Pullman company by the Interstate Commerce commission Tuesday to purchase the property of the Haskell and Barker Car company, by issuing 165,000 shares of new capital stock, having a par value of $16,500,000.

THE NONSENSE OF A "SECRET TREATY."

Talk of secret treaties in which the United States is concerned is made only for the ignorant and gullible. It is to be noticed that such statements are being made by senators who have reasons to dislike and hope to discredit the administration and the arms conference.

Under the constitution there can be no treaty in force—no treaty contract is a contract—until such a treaty has been ratified by the senate of the United States. Secret pacts, secret arrangements with other nations and binding upon us are impossible under our constitution. The people of the United States do not delegate such plenary powers to commissioners or representatives bethey even presidents, and such treaties must be examined and passed upon by a legislative body representing the public. President Wilson discovered this and other plenipotentiaries, at other times have also learned the same lesson. But opponents of the four power agreement have been circulating the story that behind the Pacific treaty is a secret agreement that the United States will go to war to aid Japan or England or France, or all of them.

This is made too, irrespective of the established fact that when the League of Nations was being discussed, the clause in Article X calling upon the United States to go to war to preserve any signatory of the covenant from outside aggression, was fully debated and the reiterated principle of American treaty making power clearly understood. President Wilson in admitting that Article X called for armed force added, however, that it was a moral obligation only and any war would have to be first declared by congress, regardless of the treaty. Of course a statement that America was in a secret agreement to go to war would be accepted open-mouthed by some who have not been long from alien lands where war is made at the will of individuals and not representatives of the people. Here it is impossible. Some better argument should be devised than the one of a secret agreement to square one's self with opposition to the four power treaty.

Marquis Okuma says accounts of his death have been rather premature. He's only 83 and expects to live to an old age.

JANUARY 8, 1815.

It is well sometimes to turn back a leaf or two and look over the yesterdays in history. It seems a long time but is not so far back when rough and ready men from all over the south, from the mountains of Tennessee and the hills of Georgia, the river valley and the coasts, gathered without uniforms and equipment at New Orleans, a small city on the Mississippi river, to repulse an invader.
It made a president of the United States and left its impress for all time perhaps on the political and financial history of the nation. Gen. Andrew Jackson was no band-box officer, with ribbons, no sartorially correct soldier. He was as rough as a piece of shagbark hickory and just as tough physically. He believed fully that the end justified the means and his life was largely guided by that rule of conduct. He had only an un-disciplined, unorganized army, but every man swore by him. So when he told them to dig ditches they dug, and then piled up cotton bales and dug some more ditches.

Here Great Britain met defeat, lost the last battle, struck the last flag on American shores, and quit forever the effort to reconquer the men of the Western Hemisphere.

These uniformed men of Buckenham, fresh from Napoleonic wars, drilled to the nicety of perfection, moving forward in orderly step, firing as they had been taught by mathematical formula, were like so much chaff in the whirlwind of rifle shots from the maple-stocked muzzle loaders of the men in skins, coriandry and jeans.

Why? Simply because there was an individuality on the side of Jackson that had never been learned by the Red Coats facing the ditches and the cotton bales. Each man was his own master and yet he coordinated with the others to a common purpose. That was again true in the World War. The individuality of the private in the fighting front, his ability to look out for himself, and his resourcefulness was the amazement of the allied armies. Not all, but the majority of the men in the American front were of the Jackson kind.
It was also noticed that the men trained in the country forced better in such cases than the city bred man who knew everything from artificial contact but was unacquainted with nature, and her provisions.

Jackson at New Orleans will ever be a brilliant story and though it is 107 years since this week, it still may give to Americans a thrill of pride and

MAKING MARKSMEN

By FREDERIC J. HASLIN

Washington, D. C.—Sometime next month arrangements will be made for holding the national rifle and pistol shots in the United States, in or out of the military and naval services.
Since the American people turned their attention to teaching themselves to be a nation of crack shots, their success has become more and more apparent, culminating last year in winning for the first time in history the international trophy in competition with the finest rifle shots in the world. Hitherto the Swiss teams have won this trophy for eighteen successive years, ever since the competitions were started.

Not only that, but the place of first rifle shot of the world is generally accorded to W. R. Sikes, a college boy from Washington, who led every other rifleman at the international matches where the American team was victorious.

Last year the national matches were held at Camp Perry, and records of all sorts were by the board day after day. Seventy-five bulls'eyes were registered at 1000 yards. A hundred and seventy-six were run off on an 800 yard range. Eighty were made at 900 yards.

In the long-range, shooting at Camp Perry yesterday, a remarkable duel resulted between Sergeant J. W. Adkins, of the Marine corps, a youngster just in his athletic prime, and George R. Farr, of the state of Washington, who confesses to 32 birthdays. The younger man had to extend himself to such shooting as was never before seen in order to beat the old civilian. Sergeant Adkins was shooting with special equipment supposed to be better for target work. Mr. Farr was using government equipment issued to him that day, which makes his showing the more remarkable.

National Rifle association is largely responsible for the great increase in interest in shooting in the United States, which has borne abundant fruit in the betterment of rifle shots generally to such a point that there is now talk of making the maximum distance in long-range rifle competition 1500 yards instead of 1000 yards, as at present. The ease with which bulls'eyes were made by some of the best shots at the 1000 and 900 yard ranges, with the aid of telescope sights and ever-improving equipment and knowledge, was astonishing. It is remembered that 150 yards is a mile, some idea of the remarkable riflemen being developed is obtained.

In order that the winter months shall not prove a time of idleness to riflemen, a series of gallery shooting events are under way now. Preliminary events were held up until Dec. 24, which were partially of the nature of practice, although held under match conditions. A series of individual competitions begins January 31, and championship team matches will run from Feb. 18 to March 25. It is the honor of the National Rifle association that these gallery matches will prove a training school for marksmen for the national and international matches held every year. Rifle clubs of the civilian, military, college and school classes, take part in these shooting events.

In these teams, tight men are allowed to shoot.
The best five targets are allowed to count toward team records, the balance being disregarded.
Several sorts of matches are provided. There is team competition in the prone position, the target being 75 feet from the firing point. The same conditions govern team shooting in the kneeling position, the sitting position, and standing. In order that galleries be opened only for shooting at 50 feet may not be excluded, arrangements have been made for duplicating the matches on such ranges, but teams shooting at 75 feet may not shoot similar matches at 50 feet.

In addition to these matches, a series of interclub championship matches for civilian rifle clubs alone were arranged. In these gallery competitions, teams of five shoot, with each team counting toward the team record. These team matches are arranged to cover a period of six weeks. The first week a "string" will be fired by each team member from the prone position, and a string from the sitting position—a string to consist of two sighting shots and ten shots for record. The second week the teams fire one string prone, and one string kneeling; the third week, a prone string and a standing string; the fourth week, a prone string and a sitting string; the fifth week, a prone string and a kneeling string; and the sixth week, a prone and a standing string.
The team winning this competition is awarded the title of "Gallery champions for the year 1922." Also, it receives the Indoor Trophy, to be held for one year or until won by some other team, a certificate of victory, to be retained by the rifle club and each member of the successful team is given a suitable bronze medal.

If as many as five teams are entered from one state, they are considered also as shooting for the state championship, and their scores are considered separately from this point of view. The team from each state having the highest aggregate score at the end of the competition is given the title of "champion gallery team" for its respective state, and the team members receive a bronze medal specially made for this purpose.
There is a military unit competition too, under exactly the same conditions, but open only to gallery rifle teams from the military class of clubs under the regulations of the national board for the promotion of rifle practice. The awards to the winning teams and its members are the same, with suitable decorations that it is the military class of clubs involved. There is exactly similar competition for the high school and military school clubs in the organization. Similar matches in every respect are provided for the fifty foot galleries.

In addition to this series of competitions, there is to be fired the Astor cup match. This competition is open to rifle clubs of the high school, private, military, and preparatory school classes, and is shot in a gallery measuring 50 feet from the target to the firing point. The number of shots allowed to shoot on but one team from any one club.

Ten competitors make up a team in this match, the five best scores to count toward record. The firing is from the prone position, each man being allowed two sighting shots and ten firing shots for record. Artificial support of the rifle is permitted, and any kind of sights not containing glass may be used. This match will be concluded in the week ending May 5.
The prize for this special cup, known as the Astor cup and medals to members of the winning team. The cup is held for one year, or until won by another school team. However, it is provided that the cup will become the permanent property of the school winning it the greatest number of times in 20 years shooting. Culver Military academy, Culver, Ind., now holds the cup. The first winner, in 1903, was the Morris high school, New York city. Next it was held by De Witt high school, New York city. In 1914 the Salt Lake City high school, Utah, was successful. The Stoneham high school of Massachusetts won it the next year.
In 1919, Central high school of Washington, D.
C., won the cup, and the following year St. Johns Military academy, Delafield, Wis., was the victor.
Iowa City high school, Iowa, is in the lead for permanent possession of the trophy, being the only school team to win the cup more than once, and having been successful in 1911, 1912, 1913, 1916, 1917, and 1918. There were victories for this school which make it impossible for it to lose permanent possession of the cup.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

SHOES
I'll tell you it's a problem when a youngster's nine years old
To keep his feet in leather and to keep him heeled and soled;
Just about the time I fancy I've some money
I can use.

His mother comes and tells me that he needs a pair of shoes.
Now I can wear a pair of shoes for several months or more,
But Bud, it seems, is working for the man who keeps the store.
And the rascal seems to fancy that his duty is to show
How fast a healthy, rugged boy can wreck a leather toe.

But shoes are made for romping in, for climbing and for fun.
For kicking bricks and empty cans, and I am not the one
To make him walk sedately in the way that grown-ups do—There's time enough for that, I say when all his boyhood's through.

So let him wreck them, heels and toes, and scuff their soles away I'll not begrudge the bill for shoes that I'm compelled to pay.
For I rejoice that it's my lot, when mother breaks the news,
To have a healthy, roguish boy who's always reading shoes.

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT

By ROY K. MCCLINTON.

WHAT WE WOULD CALL A MEAN REMARK.
George Patterson, an octogenarian, in asking for a separation from his wife, said that she jeered at his bald head. The justice said the lady should have more sense than to do such a thing to which attention answered: "What's it, I am proud of my bald head. You can't have hair and brains as well—look at women."

It may be rather dangerous to try to converse with the planets, for some of them may be much further advanced than we.

After buying Christmas presents and paying insurance, taxes, income tax, interest, club dues and rent, we salt the rest of our December salary down in good real estate.

TO AN UNKNOWN GENTLEMAN.
When I saw you in the subway
On a Brooklyn-bound express
I confessed I watched you, Guy.
For I liked (?) your style of dress.

You wore a shoelace necktie,
Pressed and tied so neat.
Does it keep you, sir, as warm as The knots upon your feet?

And I ask you for confession
Of how you comb your hair.
Was it parted in the middle,
Or is there any there?

So, dear sir, if you'll pardon
When a young unknown assails,
Is there any explanation
That you're classed among the males?
—Pollux Hein.

That man who has an income of $10,000 a day could do a great many important things. For instance, he could keep a musical comedy on the road for an entire season—or he could drop at least a quarter into every coin box that is shaken under his nose for various benefits, relics and movements.

The trouble about getting a really good overcoat nowadays is that the prices are too high in the nobby restaurants where good overcoats are to be had.

If Uncle Tom were alive today I know where he could get $60 a month for his cabin.

We have often noted that the purely sentimental poems received as contributions to this column by writers who have never been married. It would be interesting to follow the careers of these love-poets and find just exactly when they change their style from the sentimental to the satirical.

Who's Who Today

HORATIO BOTTFOMLEY
Horatio Bottfomley, whose vitriolic attacks on all things American in his London weekly newspaper John Bull have attracted considerable notice on this side of the water, has retired from the editorship of that publication. The reason for his resignation is his desire "to have more time to attend to political affairs and to conduct

INFANTILE PARALYSIS

After the acute or feverish stage of nausea, polyomylitis has passed, perhaps three weeks after the onset of the illness, the plaster casts or splints or other apparatus which may have been used to procure that most important of results, seem to be abandoned. The early stage of the paralysis, may be removed every day or two for the application of electricity. The casts or splints are discarded permanently when the physician feels that there is no further likelihood of relapse, or they serve no useful purpose after the stage of fixed or permanent paralysis has arrived. The child is to wear any appliance or brace later, either to prevent contracture or to enable the child to walk, that is a question for the orthopedic physician.

The best results seem to be obtained from a combination of electric treatment and massage applied three or four times a week for not less than one year. This electric treatment must be applied properly and safely only by the family physician or the orthopedic physician or nurses under their direction. Sometimes an intelligent nurse will learn to apply treatment to her child with the nurse's help. It is a mistake, against such treatment are warned, to entrust such treatment to any other hands.

HOROSCOPE
The stars incline, but do not compel.
TUESDAY, JANUARY 10, 1922
This is a fairly fortunate day, according to astrology, but it is not a lucky one for starting on journeys.
Uranus is strongly adverse, while Saturn is in benefic aspect.
Under this planetary government there is more than a hint of danger from travel in electrically propelled conveyances.
Aviation is believed to be especially perilous while Uranus frowns on humanity.
Saturn gives encouragement to all who derive gain from the earth. Real estate concerns should benefit during this positing of the stars.
Farmers seem to have a promising direction of the stars, but in many parts of the country heavy losses will be sustained from storms and unusual weather conditions.
The affliction of the sun by Neptune gives little promise of a decrease in crime and the signs seem to indicate that persons of education and social prominence will be implicated in strange cases of moral derivation.
Women should be exceedingly watchful this year in their associations with men, for the stars indicate that they will be more easily persuaded to forget social traditions than ever before.
The stars prophesy that one of the most prominent women in the country will end her career within a few months.
Railway stocks and shares may cut strange capers in the stock market, astrologers declare.
High tides on the eastern coast are forecasted and towns may suffer severe damage.
Venus culminating at Petrograd in sexile to Jupiter denoted a more peaceful visit to Russia.
Spain should benefit at this time, because Venus is in Sagittarius, its ruling sign.
Persons whose birthdate it is should avoid speculation and risks during 1922. Changes will not be lucky.
Children born on this day may be restless and unsettled, but they will have power to climb high. Both men and girls should be successful and prosperous.

What was the cost of the world war per day? L. D.
A. The net cost of the world war per day to the United States was $27,600,000. Including loans to the allies, the sum rises to $28,500,000 per day. The total cost per day to all involved in the war was $107,000,000.
Q. Is there any animal or fish that has only one eye? E. F.

A. The bureau of biological survey was the only one-eyed animal existence is the Cyclops, a genus of small fresh water crustacean. They are popularly included under the wide title of "water fleas." Various species are common as active swimmers in fresh water pools or slow flowing brooks, and a few have been recorded from the sea. A very marked feature of the color is the single eye, which radiates usually bright crimson and sparkling like a gem.

Q. In twenty-one, does the banker pay the split? D. C.

A. In twentyone (Vingt-et-un) the players who have cards of the same total pip value as the dealer, who is the banker, neither win nor lose.

Q. When was Napoleon given the title of the Little Corporal? D. J.

A. Napoleon was given the title of Napoleon after the battle at the bridge of Lodi, May 10, 1795.

Q. What does tenno means in Japanese? D. M. A.

A. Tenno means literally King of Heaven, and is a title given to the emperor of Japan as head of the Shinto religion.

Q. How does the tongue of a big pumpkin compare with that of a hottiship? J. C. C.

A. The tongue of the first United States battleships averages 2,000. A first class passenger vessel such as the "Anzac" has a tongue of 21,600.

Q. Was Stanley a renowned explorer when he was sent to find Livingston? D. C. N.

A. Henry Morton Stanley was a newspaper man and war correspondent when he was sent by the New York Herald to find Livingston. He had had some valuable experience, however, when he was sent to find Livingston in Abyssinia and in Asia Minor. After the death of Livingston, Stanley decided to take up his work, and he spent some 23 years in such enterprises.

Q. How did the word Anzac originate and what does the letter represent? R. E. H.

A. The word "Anzac" as applied to the colonial soldiers of Great Britain during the war is formed from the initial letters of the words "Australian and New Zealand Army Corps."

The phrase was used by General Birdwood in a telegram dispatching troops from the Gallipoli peninsula. Others have sought to interpret it as being composed of the initial letters of the British colonies—Australia, New Zealand, Africa, and Canada.

Q. How do you interpret any swanup land for sale in Florida? T. A. G.

A. The general land office says, according to the act of Sept. 28, 1930, all swanup land was turned over to the state of Florida.

City Council

Milwaukee.—The common council started the year 1922 by rejecting Mayor Hoan's nominee for city attorney, Benjamin W. Reynolds, socialist, the roll call showing a straight party lineup, 13 to 17, vote and receiving and placing on assistant.

In his communication the mayor held that the first assistant city meaning of the law, and that the power of appointment to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation

Thrown out of a job in his father's livery stable because of laziness, George Dalton becomes a wanderer for Old Planter, rich and arrogant. The youth falls in love with Sylvia Planter, and when she falls from her horse, he kisses her. This brings on a fight. Dalton leaves, goes to Princeton and determines on a college education. He makes the football team, and the aid of a tutor, George Bally.

He alone, as the squad dressed in the gymnasium, displayed no signs of misgiving. Here was the climax of the season. All the better. The larger the need the greater, once performance must be. But the others didn't share that simple faith.

He enjoyed the ride to the field in the cold, clear air, through hurrying, noisy, and colorful crowds. He liked the impromptu cheering parties, the tense devotion of the spectators. In the field dressing room, like most of the players received their final instructions. Already they were half beaten because they were going to face Yalo. But George, who knew he was going to play better than ever, because he was going to face one Yalo man, Lambert. Planter was in the line, and he kept repeating to himself:

"I will! I will!"

He laughed at the others.

"There aren't any wild boasts out there—just eleven men like ourselves."

True Detective Stories TRIANGULAR FLAW

There was as little doubt that Lord Herbert Laurence Sheffield, who was the nobility and that was apparent immediately, from his monochrome and his spurs. Every shock of the head, the chin, the nose, the mouth, the eyes, and every one of them admitted that a more representative member of the British aristocracy had never visited Italy.

Therefore when the English nobleman wandered into the establishment of the largest jeweler in Naples some two months after his arrival in the city and asked to be shown some diamond necklaces, there was an immediate outcry to wait upon him. Finally the proprietor himself came. Finally the jeweler himself came. Finally the jeweler himself came. Finally the jeweler himself came.

"That would be excellent," assented the visitor. "but I really do not wish my daughter to know anything about the transaction. The whole matter is to be a surprise to her."

A few days later, in response to Lord Sheffield's request, the jeweler took the necklace to the Grand Hotel and found the Englishman alone in the room. After a very careful examination of the diamond necklace, the jeweler signed the letter of credit from his wallet when a girl's voice was heard in the corridor, just outside the door.

"My daughter," exclaimed the Englishman. "She mustn't know anything about this," and he swept the necklace and the wallet into his drawer of the desk before which he drew out. A moment later Sylvia Sheffield came in and announced that her father's tailor had arrived and wished to see him at once. Excusing himself with the statement that he would be back very shortly, Lord Herbert left the room and his daughter followed him immediately.

When half an hour had passed the jeweler began to wonder what was detaining his client, but he didn't worry in the least because his necklace and his lordship's wallet were there in the drawer of the desk, right under his hand. The transaction involved too much money to warrant any impatience, so it was not until two hours had slipped by before the jeweler rang for the hotel clerk and requested to know what was detaining Lord Sheffield.

"His lordship and Miss Sylvia left the hotel nearly two hours ago," was the reply. "They had received a telegram from England."

Sensing that he had been robbed, the jeweler rushed at the drawer of the desk only to find that it was locked. But a moment's examination of the next room sufficed to show that the wall against which the desk was placed had been pierced and that the whole procedure had been a ploy to life the necklace and make a quick getaway.

Light, one of the surest detectives in Naples, was immediately placed in charge of the case and telegraphed to Rome to have the pair arrested. Sheffield, anticipating such a move, had planted two confederates in the capital, and by the time the police had reached their alibi was ironed the real criminals were well on their way northward. Then followed one of the longest chases in continental detective history.

Finally, after more than eight months, he located them in London, only to be met by the downright denial of the fact that he had ever used the name of Sheffield or had ever been in Naples. He accounted for his possession of a number of unset diamonds by the statement that he had bought them in Argentina and expected a bit of sale covering the gems.

To this only made no reply, but whipped out a jeweler's magnifying glass and commenced to examine the diamonds one by one.

Then, before the Englishman knew what he was doing, he leaned forward and snatched a pair of handcuffs from him.

Dinner Stories

A Lancashire tacker, who was noted as a bit of a bully at the mill, once went to Blackpool for the week-end, and where he met one of his weavers. After having a drink, they decided to have a battle, but the tacker soon got into difficulties, and the weaver went to his assistance, and managed to get him safely to the shore.

"What's your life?" remarked the tacker. "What can you do?"

"Say nowt about it," replied the weaver. "bees' if I other weavers gets to know aw pulled the awt they'll chuck me in."

"Charles Richards and Lew Welsh short changed members of the women's club yesterday when they accounted for the ladies to Cullin as official life changers," says the Lyons Republican.

"The ladies were guests of Mrs. Roy Miller, a former member of the club, and he invited the Lyons men along as trouble makers. The pair rode 80 miles, ate seven pieces of fried chicken each—and didn't change a tire."

School Board to Decide on Bids Saturday

Routine business was transacted with great celerity by the board of education at its first monthly meeting of 1922 at the high school Tuesday night. The meeting took less than an hour.

Miss Lydia Ziemann, clerk of the board, read the minutes of one regular and four special meetings held since the December meeting.

On the first play Goodhue fumbled, and a Yale guard fell on the ball. George stared, stilling an instinctive desire to kick. The chance had been thrown away, and his head made him suffer more and more. Then he saw that Goodhue wanted to die, and as they went back to place themselves for the Yale kick, George said:

"You've proved we can get through them. Next time!"

"Would there be a next time? And Goodhue didn't seem to hear. With all his enviable inheritance and training he failed to conceal a passionate remorse; his conviction of a peculiar and unforgivable criminality."

European business men were able to outbid Americans through prior knowledge of American offers. These charges have been denied again and again, but it has been admitted that the opportunity for such tactics would be minimized if the United States has speedy communication with South America.

Starts Under Wilson. The fight against unhampered communications began under the Wilson administration. Secretary Coby adopted practically the same policy as did Secretary Hughes—there was no politics in it, simply a deliberate effort on the part of the American government to see to it that cable communication with the all-important continent to the south of us wasn't controlled by foreign-owned companies who might discriminate against the citizens of the United States.

President Harding, however, has the opportunity now to go even further and to use the example of what has been accomplished in the western hemisphere as a means of securing freedom from monopoly in other countries with which the United States has direct cable communication for admittedly world peace and extensive commerce depend largely upon communication. The Harding administration is saying nothing for the present about licenses to companies landing cables from European points preferring to settle the South American situation first and offer an example of what can be done by abolishing cable monopolies. But the fact is that the Kellogg bill, enacted recently in law, gives the chief executive powers which may revolutionize the whole question of cable communication if properly exercised.

Charged in Litigation. It will be recalled that the Wilson administration, feeling confident of the constitutional rights of the executive in refusing to grant permits to companies to land cables if the interests of the United States seemed adversely affected, found itself in the

AMERICAN WOMEN NOW WEAR SHOES THAT FIT, CLAIM

Chicago—American women have brought their brains to their heels and at last are wearing shoes that actually fit them, according to John O'Connor of Chicago, general chairman of the National Shoe Retailers' association, which opened a four day convention here Monday.

"A woman used to think her life was ruined if she didn't wear a number 1 (double A)," said O'Connor. But now, he asserts, things are different.

Twenty thousand shoe men of the country are attending the convention.

Use Coconut Oil For Washing Hair

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Multisifted coconut oil shampoo (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it on. One or two teaspoonfuls of Multisifted will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Multisifted coconut oil shampoo at any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last over a year in the family or for months. Be sure your druggist gives you Multisifted.

HANS RODD IN COURT JANUARY 13

Celebrated Oneida Case Will Be Heard by Supreme Court.

(By Associated Press.)
Madison, Wis., Jan. 10.—The case of Hans Rodd, ousted sheriff of Oneida county, for a writ with Gov. J. E. Blaine over refusal to obey a pardon order of the executive, before the Supreme court will be argued Friday, January 13, the January term calendar announced by A. A. McLeod, clerk, today shows.

The case of the Oneida Milk Products company attached constituting one of the state filed-milk law passed by the last legislature, is listed as state case number 3 on the calendar. No date for argument on points of law in this suit is set. All arguments will be on cases number 14 to 178 carried over from the August term.

Outside of the Rodd argument scheduled for Friday, no cases of statewide importance are on the first argument of the January calendar. Arguments will be on cases number 14 to 178 carried over from the August term.

Sheriff Rodd will be represented before the court by Sen. Claire B. Russell, of Oneida, and P. H. Martin of Green Bay, while the governor will have M. B. Olbrich, as special counsel.

This argument is expected to be one of the most noteworthy in the history of the court, determining the partitioning power of the executive in contempt of court cases. Sheriff Rodd is holding his position pending outcome of the court action.

The filed-milk case is now in the hands of Judge A. G. Zimmerman of the Dane county court, who will make his findings on issues of fact involved, as soon as testimony in the hearing of the complaint of milk companies is transcribed.

His findings will be presented to the court, after attorneys will argue points of law involved. The court will then decide on constitutionality of the law which prohibits manufacture of sale of the skimmed-milk and cocoa-nut oil product within the state.

Elkhorn

Elkhorn—Field Secretary Will Foster of the Farm Bureau has vacated his office in the new court house and will now occupy the rooms on North Wisconsin street formerly occupied by the Central Military school.

The play, "The Dear Departed," will be presented by the public speaking class of the high school, on Monday evening, instead of Wednesday, as was planned, there being a town program at that time. The play forms only a part of the evening's program, as there are several musical numbers.

The boys' band has a few selections it will render, and the glee club is preparing for the occasion. A church choir, under the direction of Mrs. A. J. Johnson, and Mrs. A. J. Johnson will form an interesting part of the evening's entertainment.

As an additional attraction, and one well worth while, Mrs. Florence May Cook, of Elkhorn, will give a play, which will appear. She is a friend of the public speaking and glee club instructor, Miss Ella Kneller, and they have a number of friends in and around Elkhorn.

The work on the play is progressing well, and there is every assurance of an excellent rendition. The local American Legion team will play the Elkhorn All-Stars Thursday evening, Jan. 12, at the high school gym.

The Princess theatre was well filled with farmers to hear the program of lecture and moving pictures on "Farming," given under the direction of the Farm Bureau.

The M. E. church will give a musical and literary program at the church Tuesday evening, W. T. Weddle has charge of the entertainment and promises readings and songs.

The Congregational church held its annual meeting last week and the members of the building committee year elected: L. W. Swan, treasurer; Mrs. R. F. Skiff, clerk and financial secretary; George Trator, deacon for life; R. L. Mills, deacon for six years; Mrs. A. J. Johnson and Mrs. A. J. Johnson, superintendents and assistants.

The Lutheran church held its Sunday school, Mrs. L. W. Swan and Dr. W. E. Dunbar, music committee; Mrs. Mabel Peris, organist.

SILVER-TONGUED ORATOR OF EAGLES TO MAKE ADDRESS

Madison—The Wisconsin State Farm Bureau has elected a new president, R. M. Richmond, treasurer, Charles Buckingham, first vice president, and A. C. M. second vice president. B. Myers, director, W. P. McDermott, R. M. Richmond, Leonard P. Eager and James Gillies.

The body of George Slavson, who was killed in the explosion at the Elkhorn, was brought here Monday and laid to rest in Maple Hill cemetery, with short services conducted by the Rev. A. W. Barnlund. Mr. and Mrs. Urah Slavson, parents of the deceased, accompanied the body here, returning Tuesday after a visit of a day at the home of their cousin, Clyde McCoy.

Both the farmer and the city business men are mutually interested in the program of the Twilight club meeting to be held in the Y. M. C. A. next Tuesday night. The agriculture program of the Twilight club has been developed to be one of the greatest programs of the club under the leadership of C. O. Reed.

In addition to the county board of supervisors, the county board of agriculture, the county board of stock breeders are being urged to attend. It will be a big meeting for the county and the city.

H. W. Mumford, whose cooperative livestock shipping plans were adopted by the successful committee of 15—all of whom were national farm authorities—will be the speaker. It is expected to show the status of agriculture in the readjustment problem and detail the practical needs of the farmers.

One speaker, Mr. Mumford, is a nationally known authority on farm problems and President McKerron, one of the best known agriculture leaders in Wisconsin. He will speak on "The Farmer and His Rights."

The speaker is an authority on order marketing so long sought by farmers. He will be an open discussion and views are desired from both the urban and rural residents. It is hoped to make the meeting a community conference on farming.

J. A. Jones, University of Wisconsin, agricultural college, and E. Graber, superintendent of county agents and Mr. Gerhard, state official in charge of federal appropriations will attend the meeting.

"We want both the city and country residents to come to this meeting whether they are members of the Twilight club or not," stated C. O. Reed, secretary of the club. "We want to have some definite idea on how many will attend."

The commission says that while it is unusual for railroads to grant excursion fares for a meeting of the nature intended by the deep-waterways conference, the railroads have agreed as a means of furthering the project. They feel, the commission reports, that the project would of direct benefit to the entire territory and are willing to further it by the grant of lower rates.
